Attorney General Mike Hilgers

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

April 10, 2024

Today, Attorney General Mike Hilgers hosted a video conference with media from Grand Island, Lexington, and O'Neill to in anticipation of the upcoming community training sessions hosted by the Nebraska Human Trafficking Task Force (NHTTF).

During April, there will be three training sessions for free for community members in Grand Island, Lexington, and O'Neill.

There will be attendees across at least 11 counties in Nebraska including: Clay, Hamilton, Buffalo, Filmore, Platte, Franklin, Sherman, Knox, Holt, Gosper, and Furnas County.

Attorney General Hilgers announced in January that members from his office would host training events in eight cities. NHTTF has hosted events in Scottsbluff, North Platte, Beatrice, and Columbus so far this year.

Each location has two daytime sessions designated for law enforcement, prosecutors, medical professionals, and advocates which are closed to the public. Registration is available on the Attorney General's website.

A third training is an evening session open to the general public. These trainings are available to any community member who would like to attend and do not require registration:
